

Don Amero

In the fall of 2007, Don quit his day job of hardwood floor installer and began pursuing music as a full time career. Growing up in the North End of Winnipeg, acoustic musician Don Amero has definitely faced his share of adversity.

With poverty, gangs, drugs and violence as daily reminders of the harshness of the world, Don's life was nevertheless tempered by love, support and the knowledge that a Greater Power was intimately involved in his life. Shaped and moulded by his coming of age, his music now carries both the depth of experiencing hardship and the luminosity of experiencing hope.

All who have the pleasure of listening to his music will no doubt leave with his encouraging message of positivity lifting their spirits.
